

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MinionMonitor.com reports that 38% of Minions think their boss is “Clueless”

My Boss

ORLANDO, FL (October 15, 2008) – MinionMonitor.com, a new site dedicated to Americans earning up to $50k/year, reports that 38% of Minions think the boss is “Clueless”. Even so, Minions will celebrate Boss’s Day, October 16, 2008, with at least a card for the big cheese.

Learn more at www.MinionMonitor.com

About MinionMonitor.com

MinionMonitor.com is an organized voice box for the 96 million people who earn up to $50k/year and support some of the most successful companies in the world. Opinions on today’s leading companies, CEOs and news headlines are shared with the press, politicians and anyone else who will listen to spread the word on what Minions really care about.

Who Are We?

We’re either Minions now or have been in the past and some of us spent years working for major companies such as Disney, Pepsi, Delta, Yum Brands and others. We also know how to change a tire and find a great shirt at WalMart.

FOR MORE INFORMATION, CONTACT media@minionmonitor.com.

